

Regarding the special programming on John Kerry: if a negative program is aired on any political candidate, a positive one should follow OR a negative program on the competing candidate should be shown at the same time. This kind of use of the public airwaves is not a good example of good democratic principles.

Stuart and Louise Lewis
Dover, NH